Cost effective

The Safe2Say two-way anonymity platform offers a very cost-effective way to enhance your organisation's culture, reputation and employee well-being as you will have no infrastructure or maintenance costs.

Getting Safe2Say up and running is a very easy process. All you have to do is sign up for a licence to use the software. You will be provided with a dedicated URL that can be accessed through your organisation's intranet or this URL can be used by employees on any external computer they feel comfortable using.

The two-way anonymity chat facility is an excellent innovation that allows you to offer support to employees or ask for more details about the report. In addition, you will be provided with the ability to develop your own reports and add your company logo to the report.

The whistleblower reports are accessed only by your organisation, therefore no other party including Safe2Say is privy to the content. This not only allows you to be the first to know the issue being reported, it also allows you to gather business intelligence regarding the matter and to quickly put a strategy in place to address the issue.
